Dear Lydotta,

I am writing to let you know how thoroughly impressed I am with your staff and The EdVenture Group in general. Having worked with you and your staff for more than three years, I have to let you know that I have never found a better group of individuals to work with. The staff is so knowledgeable, experienced and pleasant, they really enhance any project.

As the Principle Investigator on three National Science Foundation grants and having worked on many other teacher training projects in the past, I can honestly say that working with your group has been the best experience by far. The project that we have partnered on has been extremely successful because of the efforts and experience of your team. Each member of your staff that I have worked with has gone out of the way to deliver far above expectations on the project. I am always surprised by the vast technology experience they have, as well as their willingness to learn new things if the need arises.

I hope that we will be able to partner on more things in the future and I wish you all the best as your business grows over the years.

Sincerely,

Dr. Marjorie Darrah
